

Cardiff Archaeological Society
The Corpus of Romanesque Sculpture in Britain & Ireland

The Corpus of Romanesque Sculpture in Britain and Ireland Achievements and Aspirations

by Dr Ron Baxter FSA and Dr David Robinson FSA

Thursday 19 October 2017, 7.15pm
Main Building, Cardiff University, Park Place, Cardiff CF10 3AT

St Padarn, Llanbadarn Fawr (Powys), mid-12th-century Romanesque tympanum above the south doorway (© Crown Copyright: RCAHMW).

The Corpus of Romanesque Sculpture in Britain and Ireland (CRSBI) was launched with British Academy support in 1988, and is today affiliated to King's College London. The aim is to record all of the stone sculpture produced in our islands between about 1066 and 1200.

This lecture will review the achievements of the Corpus to date. The sites already online (www.crsbi.ac.uk) are supported by more than 90,000 images. The second half of the lecture will outline aspirations for Wales, looking at Romanesque sculpture from across the country.

On Friday 20 October, Ron Baxter and David Robinson will be running a training session at Llandaff Cathedral, from 10.00am to 3.00pm. The day is open to all who may be interested in becoming a fieldworker for the Corpus, or in simply finding out more about our work.

Dr Ron Baxter is the Research Director of CRSBI
Dr David Robinson is an independent historian and writer